In his new novella, A House at the Bottom of a Lake, we have a even quieter but still original horror tale that somehow serves as a setting for one of the most non-horror themes you can find. His first novel, Bird Box constructed almost literally a horror out of nothing and gave a new meaning to the term "see no evil" as its protagonists' fear of seeing created a haunting agoraphobia.

The power of A House at the Bottom of a Lake is what is not said, what is implied. James and Amelia never ask why or how or who. They explore deeper and deeper into the house, pushing their limits further and further each time. This creates a lot of tension especially when things start to take a darker turn. The only issue I had was with the ending.
