The balances in the asset accounts are usually debits. The liabilities and equity balances are usually credits. In the above ledger illustration, the bank ledger has an opening balance of $1,050.00. This means that at the end of the previous financial year this business had that much money in their bank account.

An account has a debit balance if the total of the debit side of it is more than the sum of the credit side.

Similarly, an account shall have a credit balance if the amount of the credit side is more than the total of the debit side.

Continuing with the above example, US$500 will be added on the debit side of the
