An alternative to this would be to play an alphabet game for house and home, or simply approach it by brainstorming and sharing vocabulary as a group. In any case, I write the words on the board. My next step is to encourage the students to think beyond the word and its definition.

Choosing a house | TeachingEnglish | British Council | BBC

A council house is a form of British public housing built by local authorities. A council estate is a building complex containing a number of council houses and other amenities like schools and shops. Construction took place mainly from 1919 after the Housing Act 1919 to the 1980s, with much less council housing built since then. There were local design variations, but they all adhered to local authority building standards.
