"Written with Allison's trademark wit and lacerating insight, How Hard Can It Be? is an honest, hilarious look at being a woman of a certain age. Anyone who, like me, adored Kate Reddy in "I Don't Know How She Does It," will be delighted to revisit her fierce and honest take on the figurative and literal bumpy bits of middle age.

In this episode, I talk with Tim Deagan in his garage workshop in Austin, TX. He says his lifelong motto has been: "How Hard Can It Be?", even though he has repeatedly learned that most things are indeed harder than they initially look. We talk about creating Flame Effects, Propane Patio Heaters and the resurgence of Ham Radio during Covid-19. Tim Deagan, a maker in Austin, TX, is a polymaker ...

How Hard Can It Be? is an anthology of Clarkson's column entries from 2008 to 2010, and while the subject matter is varied, his attitudes and directness are not. He claims that he will speak sense, and in actual fact he does most of the time. He is, generally speaking, opposed to red tape, bureaucracy and overdoing political correctness.
