November 22, 2018 / 5 Comments / in Featured Articles, Jews and the Left, Jews as An Elite / by Kevin MacDonald. Beginning in the 19th century, liberal/leftist politics has been a hallmark of the Jewish community in America and elsewhere. The attraction of Jews to the success of the Bolshevik Revolution was an entirely mainstream movement among large numbers of Jews in America and led to one of several anti-Jewish stereotypes during the 1920s and 1930s — stereotypes that were aided and ...

THIS WELL-DONE video is a good introduction to the Jewish question, though it misattributes a quote by Kevin Alfred Strom as being from Voltaire — a common mistake. It uses excerpts from a powerful speech by Dr. Pierce, reprinted in Free Speech magazine for October 1999, in which he said:. One aspect of the Jewish problem which adds to the difficulty many people have in coming to grips with ...

The two kingdoms doctrine is a Protestant Christian doctrine that teaches that God is the ruler of the whole world and that he rules in two ways. The doctrine is held by Lutherans and represents the view of some Calvinists. John Calvin significantly modified Martin Luther's original two kingdoms doctrine and certain neo-Calvinists have adopted a different view known as transformationalism.
