The Art of Practicing. Gordon Cherry. Practicing is an art, not a skill. A skill is something you can be taught in a certain number of lessons, while an art is something you learn slowly and gradually over your entire life. Whether you are a sculptor, a painter, a ballerina or a trombonist, you have to apply discipline in order to progress.

Whilst it may be difficult at first, practicing the art of mindfulness can significantly improve the way we experience our lives. Sure, it takes time to hone your skills, but with practice, it's worth it. The other thing to note is that no-one ever really masters mindfulness. It's an on-going practice - and you never stop learning.
